Team timeouts:

- Each team receives three 30-second timeouts and one full timeout (60 seconds).

- Teams may use their timeouts at any time during the game.

- The full timeout may be used in either the first or second half.

- Each team receives one 30-second timeout for each overtime, in addition to any unused second half timeouts.

Play 1: Team A uses one 30-second timeout in the first half. How many timeouts does Team A have remaining for use in the second half?

Ruling 1: Team A has two 30-second and one full timeout for use in the second half.

Play 2: Team A calls their full timeout in the first half. How many timeouts will Team A have in the second half?

Ruling 2: Team A will have three 30-second timeouts in the second half.

Play 3: Team A calls no timeouts in the first half and no timeouts in the second half. If the game goes into overtime, how many timeouts will Team A have for use?

Ruling 3: Team A will have four 30-second timeouts (three from the second half and one for overtime) and one full timeout (from the second half).

Electronic-media timeouts:

- The length of a media timeout is determined by the host institution/conference or the electronic-media agreement between the host institution/conference and their media partner.

- There is one electronic-media timeout in each quarter that occurs at the first dead ball at or below the 5-minute mark.

  - When a replay review occurs before the 5-minute mark in a quarter and prior to the quarter’s electronic-media timeout, the replay review triggers that quarter’s electronic-media timeout. The replay review will be conducted concurrently with the electronic-media timeout.

  - When a team calls a timeout before the electronic-media timeout mark for that quarter or calls a timeout which creates the first stoppage in play at or below the mark, the timeout shall be charged to the team, and it will become that quarter's electronic-media timeout.
• The first replay review or team-called timeout of the second half will trigger the second half electronic-media timeout. This timeout does not replace the 5-minute media timeout in the quarter in which it is called. The replay review will be conducted concurrently with the electronic-media timeout.

• The first team called timeout in any overtime(s) may become an electronic-media timeout if stipulated in the conference media agreement.

Play 4: In the first quarter, Team A calls a 30-second timeout with 7:15 on the game clock.

Ruling 4: Team A is charged with a 30-second timeout, which will become the length of the electronic-media timeout. There are no remaining electronic-media timeouts in the first quarter.

Play 5: In the first quarter, Team A calls a 30-second timeout with 7:15 on the game clock. At 5:00 on the game clock

   (a) B3 commits a traveling violation or;
   (b) Team B calls a 30-second timeout.

Ruling 5: In (a), play will immediately resume with a throw-in awarded to Team A. In (b), Team B is charged for a 30-second timeout, which will remain 30 seconds in length.

Play 6: In the third quarter, Team A calls a 30-second timeout with 7:30 remaining in the period. This is the first team-called timeout of the second half.

Ruling 6: The team-called timeout by Team A will become an electronic-media timeout. There will still be an electronic-media timeout in the third quarter at or below the 5-minute mark, unless either team calls a timeout before the media mark.

Play 7: With 5:00 remaining in the third quarter, A1 is fouled in the act of shooting. The try is unsuccessful. The 5-minute media timeout is taken before A1’s first free throw. Prior to the second free throw, Team B calls a timeout, which is the first team-called timeout of the second half.

Ruling 7: The team-called timeout by Team B will become an electronic-media timeout, as it is the first team-called timeout of the second half. Following the timeout, A1 will attempt her second free throw.

Play 8: With 8:30 remaining in the second quarter, the officials use replay to determine whether an intentional foul occurred. The second quarter electronic-media timeout has not yet occurred.

Ruling 8: The replay review triggers the electronic-media timeout. The replay review will be conducted concurrently with the electronic-media timeout.
