Individual Season Record Form

Question: Wrestler A, who is deemed ineligible, will not officially be joining their team until January 1, two months after the official start of the men's wrestling season. The coach of Team A is aware of Wrestler A's situation but plans to have Wrestler A compete unattached in open tournaments during November and December. Per Rule 9.6.6, would the matches wrestled while ineligible automatically be placed on Wrestler A's Individual Season Record Form (ISRF) once Wrestler A officially joins the team on January 1 and becomes eligible?

Ruling: No. Because the weight certification process serves as a critical safeguard in men's wrestling, only matches wrestled after their weight certification has been completed will count on a wrestler's ISRF.
