APPLICATION NOTES: COVID-19 SELF-APPLIED WAIVER RELIEF

- Impacted COVID year(s)* are restored if SA competed, rather than providing “extra” year(s)* of competition to SAs who were eligible but did not compete during impacted COVID term(s).

- Extensions of eligibility are sport-specific. For example, outdoor track period of eligibility is different from indoor track period of eligibility. Similarly, if SA attended school that did not sponsor sport during term impacted by COVID-19, schools may not self-apply a COVID-19 extension of eligibility if SA subsequently transfers to a school that sponsors their sport.

- For purposes of 2020-21 fall and winter sport SAs, “otherwise eligible” does not necessarily require that SA be enrolled full time during the relevant term; however, school must verify: (a) SA’s reason for not enrolling full time is due to impact of COVID-19, and (b) SA meets all other eligibility requirements to have competed (e.g., Progress Toward Degree, member of team).

Note: If SA did not compete or season did not commence, SA will not be charged with use of season of competition; therefore, self-applied season of competition relief not available. Move to analysis of self-applied extension of eligibility waiver to determine time remaining on SA’s period of eligibility.

*Indicates possibility of SA receiving self-applied season of competition waiver for spring 2020 and spring 2021 terms.
Extension of Eligibility Scenarios

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Scenario</th>
<th>Answer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1 Baseball SA is on roster and is eligible to compete during 2020 spring semester. Although season commenced, it was ultimately canceled due to COVID-19 and did not resume for remainder of 2019-20 academic year. SA did not compete. Can SA receive self-applied extension of eligibility waiver?</td>
<td>Yes. Since SA was otherwise eligible for competition during 2020 spring semester (e.g., enrolled, on roster, eligible), SA can receive self-applied extension waiver. Note that extension must be used at next available opportunity. &lt;br&gt;Note: Since SA did not compete during 2019-20, season of competition waiver is not applicable, and SA does not receive “extra” season.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2 Women’s swimming and diving SA completed 2019-20 academic year in good academic standing and satisfied PTD requirements. SA elected not to enroll at school during 2020-21 academic year due to COVID-19 concerns. Can SA receive self-applied extension relief?</td>
<td>Yes. So long as the school verifies the SA’s reason for not enrolling full-time is due to the impact of COVID-19 and SA meets all other eligibility requirements to have competed, school may self-apply an extension of eligibility. Again, extension must be used at next available opportunity.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3 Men’s soccer SA was enrolled at four-year, international school during 2019-20 academic year. SA was recruited by an NCAA Division I school for 2020 fall enrollment; however, SA did not enroll at any school during 2020-21 academic year. SA subsequently enrolled at an NCAA Division I school 2021 fall semester. Can SA receive self-applied extension relief?</td>
<td>No. Institution cannot self-apply an extension of eligibility given SA was not otherwise eligible to compete during 2020-21 soccer season. Institution may submit waiver via RSRO if mitigation exists.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4 Women’s outdoor track and field SA initially enrolls full-time 2017 fall semester. SA was eligible for competition during 2019-20 outdoor track season; however, season was canceled as a result of COVID-19. SA’s original five-year period of eligibility set to expire 2021-22 academic year; however, with self-applied extension of eligibility in outdoor track, SA’s period of eligibility now expires at conclusion of 2022-23 academic year. Following 2020 spring semester, SA did not satisfy PTD requirements for subsequent 2020 fall and 2021 spring semesters. SA remained on indoor and outdoor track and field rosters; however, SA was ineligible for competition in indoor and outdoor track and field during 2020-21 academic year. When will SA’s period of eligibility expire specific to indoor track and field?</td>
<td>SA’s period of eligibility for indoor track will expire at the end of the 2021-22 academic year (original five-year period of eligibility). Although SA received self-applied extension, extension is specific to outdoor track and field and periods of eligibility are sport-specific. It is important to monitor periods of eligibility for multisport athletes (e.g., women’s volleyball and women’s beach volleyball) separately.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5 Third-year student tries out for and makes football team during 2021 fall semester, therefore, triggering SA status. Student was enrolled full-time at school during 2020-21 academic year and was approached multiple times by football staff to try out for team in 2020-21 season. Prior to COVID-19, SA intended to try out and join team for 2020-21 season. As a result of COVID-19, however, school’s athletic department prohibited tryouts for all programs during 2020-21 academic year. SA would have otherwise satisfied initial and continuing eligibility requirements for 2020-21 academic year. Can SA receive self-applied extension relief?</td>
<td>No. Institution cannot self-apply an extension of eligibility given SA was not otherwise eligible to compete. Institution may submit waiver via RSRO if mitigation exists.</td>
