2025-26 Annual Report

Letter from Marc Camille, Presidents Council Chair

Dear Colleagues,

I am proud that Division III continues to be the NCAA's largest in terms of number of member institutions and number of participants. As a Presidents Council, we help ensure over 210,000 student-athletes from more than 415 institutions representing 42 conferences are able to continue their athletic careers while prioritizing earning a college degree. Division III proudly stands distinctive in not awarding athletic scholarships due to an unwavering commitment to the holistic, academic success of every member student-athlete.

The Presidents Council affirms Division III should keep educational quality and academic success as the lodestar for student-athletes. At the 2024 NCAA Convention, the Division III membership adopted a revised philosophy statement to modernize it and ensure its commitment to providing a quality student-athlete experience. Over the past several years, the division has added close to 10 million in new budget dollars to support our 28 national championships, grants, programs, and initiatives.

I continue to be impressed by the perspective our Student-Athlete Advisory Committee members bring to our governance structure and Association, which I am sure mirrors the enormous impact Division III student-athletes have on campus across the country. More than just student-athletes, SAAC members are gifted learners and leaders who embody the power of teamwork and mentorship. The skills they cultivate on their teams and in the classroom make them role models for first-year student-athletes, who then grow into those roles and pass along the Division III ethos to future generations.

The Presidents Council remains committed to preserving the division's core values and philosophy yet understands the need to be open to change within the ever-evolving college athletics and higher education landscapes. We have been strong in advocating against efforts to reclassify student-athletes as university employees and the ongoing Division III analysis is focused on identifying and mitigating membership tensions. The analysis is a timely example of a commitment to responding to the intercollegiate athletics environment and today's student-athlete needs while maintaining our core values and philosophy tenets.

On behalf of my Presidents Council colleagues, I offer great gratitude to the athletic directors, coaches, athletic trainers, athletics communication specialists, and all faculty and staff who define and deliver the Division III experience. As a new academic year dawns, we look forward to championing opportunities for our student-athletes and to all they will achieve in the classroom and competition.

Division III Philosophy Statement

The purpose of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) is to assist its members in developing the basis for consistent, equitable competition while minimizing infringement on the freedom of individual members to determine their own unique objectives and programs. The philosophy statement articulates principles that represent a commitment to Division III membership and shall serve as a guide for the preparation of legislation by the division and for planning and implementation of programs by institutions and conferences.

DIVISION III MEMBERS AFFIRM THE PURPOSES AND FUNDAMENTAL POLICY OF THE NCAA, AS SET FORTH IN CONSTITUTION ARTICLE 1 WITH EMPHASIS ON:

1. Division III members shall establish and maintain an environment in which a student-athlete's activities are conducted with the appropriate primary emphasis on the student-athlete's academic experience.
2. Division III intercollegiate athletics shall be conducted in a manner designed to protect, support, and enhance the physical and mental health and safety of student-athletes.
3. Division III members shall be committed to the creation of diverse and inclusive environments with respect for and sensitivity to the dignity of every person.
4. Division III athletics shall be conducted in a manner free of gender bias.

NCAA CONSTITUTION ARTICLE 2 ESTABLISHES THE INDEPENDENT AUTHORITY OF DIVISION III TO ORGANIZE ITSELF AND DETERMINE ITS OWN GOVERNING STRUCTURE AND MEMBERSHIP.

1. Institutional presidents and chancellors have the ultimate responsibility and final authority for the conduct of Division III intercollegiate athletics at the national, conference and institutional levels.
2. Institutional and conference members determine policy at the national level through the Division III governance and legislative processes.
3. Key institution and conference constituents who play an integral role in the governance and operation of Division III at the national, conference and institutional levels include, but are not limited to athletics direct reports, athletics diversity and inclusion designees, athletics health care administrators, coaches, conference commissioners, directors of athletics, faculty athletics representatives, presidents and chancellors, senior compliance administrators, senior woman administrators, and student-athletes.

Division III Philosophy Statement

DIVISION III MEMBERS ABIDE BY THE FOLLOWING PRINCIPLES THAT HELP TO DEFINE AND DISTINGUISH THE DIVISION AND ITS POLICIES AND LEGISLATION.

1. Student-Athlete Collegiate Experience.

- i. Primarily focus on intercollegiate athletics as a four-year undergraduate experience.
- ii. Seek to establish and maintain an environment in which a student-athlete's athletics activities are conducted as an integral part of their educational experience.
- iii. Assure that student-athletes are supported in their efforts to meaningfully participate in nonathletic pursuits to enhance their overall educational experience.

2. Student-Athlete Athletics Experience.

- i. Support student-athletes in their efforts to reach the highest levels of athletics performance, with a primary emphasis on conference and regional competition, while providing access to national championships.
- ii. Prioritize the experience of the participants, and the internal constituency (e.g., students, alumni, institutional personnel) rather than on the entertainment needs of spectators or the general public.
- iii. Develop and maintain an environment that promotes sportsmanship and a positive culture for student-athletes, coaches, and administrative personnel, recognizing the role intercollegiate athletics can play in human development. Ensure spectators contribute to a positive sporting experience in support of all participants.

3. Member Responsibility and Oversight.

- i. Encourage participation and provide equitable opportunities with support for gender and ethnic/racial diversity. Give equal emphasis to men's and women's sports.
- ii. The administration of an institution's athletics program (e.g., hiring, compensation, professional development, certification of coaches) should be integrated into the campus culture and educational mission.
- iii. Assure all teams are provided with appropriate facilities, competent coaching, and competitive opportunities.
- iv. Assure student-athletes are treated similarly to the student-body in areas that include, but are not limited to, admissions, enrollment, financial aid, academic and career support, academic performance, and degree completion.
- v. Assure that financial aid is not awarded to any student on the basis of athletics leadership, ability, participation or performance.

Division III Strategic Positioning Platform

NCAA MISSION

To govern competition in a fair, safe, equitable and sportsmanlike manner, and to integrate intercollegiate athletics into higher education so that the educational experience of the student-athlete is paramount.

DIVISION III POSITIONING STATEMENT

Who We Are

The college experience is a time of learning and growth. For Division III student-athletes, this happens most importantly in the classroom and through earning an academic degree. The Division III experience provides for participation in a competitive athletics environment. Student-athletes push themselves to achieve excellence and build upon their academic success with new challenges and life skills within an environment that fosters health and wellness. Student-athletes are encouraged to pursue the full spectrum of opportunities available during their time in college. In this way, Division III provides an equitable and inclusive environment for student-athletes to take responsibility for their own paths, follow their passions and discover their potential through a comprehensive educational experience.

DIVISION III KEY BENEFITS

The DIII Experience

- Participation in a highly competitive athletics program while retaining the full spectrum of college life.
- With a focus on academic achievement, student-athletes graduate with a comprehensive education that develops skills beyond the classroom.
- Ability for student-athletes to create their own path, discover their potential and pursue a variety of interests.
- Opportunities to be a multi-sport athlete.
- Reasonable practice and playing seasons and regional competition minimize time away from academics and keep student-athletes on a path to graduation.
- Student-athletes are integrated on campus and treated like all other members of the student body, allowing them to be students first.
- Participation in athletics provides valuable “life lessons” for student-athletes (teamwork, discipline, perseverance, leadership, health, wellness, etc.), which often translate into becoming a better student and more responsible citizen.

DIVISION III ATTRIBUTES

What We Stand For

Proportion

Appropriate balance of academics, athletics and additional collegiate opportunities.

Comprehensive Learning

Opportunity for broad-based education and success.

Passion

Playing for the love of the game, competition, enjoyment, self-improvement, and our teammates and communities.

Responsibility

Development of accountability through personal commitment and choice.

Sportsmanship

Fair and respectful conduct toward all participants and supporters.

Citizenship

Dedication to developing responsible leaders and global citizens.

Division III Supporting Features

REASONS TO BELIEVE

Comprehensive educational experience.

Division III institutions develop student-athlete potential through a holistic educational approach that includes rigorous academics, competitive athletics and opportunities to pursue other interests and passions.

Competitive athletics programs.

Student-athletes participate in an intense, competitive athletics environment. They do not receive any monetary incentive (athletics scholarship) and play for a love of the game.

Commitment to inclusive environments.

Division III prides itself on creating inclusive, diverse and equitable environments for its student-athletes.

- More than 80% of student-athletes report a sense of belonging and an inclusive team environment.
- More than three-quarters report that coaches and teammates are accepting of differing viewpoints and cultures and believe college athletics has positively impacted their racial and cultural understanding.

Academic focus.

Student-athletes most often choose a Division III institution because of the excellent academic programs.

- More than 80% of student-athletes report a positive academic experience.
- Primary focus on learning and degree achievement, evidenced by an NCAA Academic Success Rate of nearly 90%.
- Balances academics and athletics via shorter season lengths, the number of contests, and a focus on regional in-season and conference play.

Commitment to athletics participation.

Division III institutions are committed to a broad-based program of athletics because of the educational value of participation for the student-athlete. The division averages 19 sports per institution, more than any other division in the NCAA. It also emphasizes integrating competitive men's and women's sports into higher education so that the educational experience of the student-athlete is paramount.

Integrated campus environment.

A quarter of all Division III students participate in athletics. These student-athletes are integrated into the campus culture and educational missions of their institutions:

- They adhere to the same academic standards as the student body.
- They are provided the same housing, services and support as the student body.
- They are encouraged to take full advantage of the many opportunities of campus life.
- More than two-thirds develop lifelong mentor relationships with faculty members.
- More than two-thirds participate in internships.
- One-quarter participate in study abroad programs.

Available financial aid.

Eighty percent of all student-athletes in Division III receive some form of grant or non-athletics scholarship. Student-athletes have equal opportunity and access to financial aid as the general student body – but are not awarded aid based on athletics leadership, ability, performance or participation. Without the obligation of an athletics scholarship, student-athletes can emphasize academics, athletics and other opportunities of college life appropriate to the necessary commitment and their own passions.

National championship opportunities.

Over 210,000 student-athletes compete annually in 28 different Division III national championships. These competitions provide an opportunity for student-athletes to compete at the highest level and fulfill their athletics potential.

Attributes

PROPORTION

Appropriate balance of academics and additional collegiate opportunities.

Division III institutions offer an appropriate combination of academics and opportunities to pursue athletics and other passions. The membership is committed to allocating 20 percent of the division's annual budget to strategic initiatives focusing on student-athlete well-being, diversity and gender equity, sportsmanship, identity and integration and membership education and communication.

COMPREHENSIVE LEARNING

Opportunity for broad-based education and success.

Division III Institutions provide an opportunity for broad-based education and success. Division III devotes significant resources to recognize outstanding academic achievements by student-athletes in academics, by annually awarding dozens of postgraduate scholarships. It also has partnered with the College Sports Communicators to sponsor 10 separate CSC Academic All-America teams, which recognizes squads consisting of Division III student-athletes.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Fair and respectful conduct toward all participants and supporters.

Division III institutions and conference offices seek to advocate for fair and respectful conduct toward officials, opponents and their supporters. The membership continues to support this emphasis through the creation of Gameday the DIII Way. The initiative's primary efforts focus on ways to enhance the Division III sportsmanship and game environment initiatives by identifying best practices in the area of game environment and providing helpful tools.

RESPONSIBILITY

Development of accountability through personal commitment and choice.

Division III institutions enable the development of accountability through personal commitment and choices. The membership supports this goal through encouraging participation by student-athletes in programs such as leadership forums, and by providing opportunities for a diverse source of emerging leaders in intercollegiate athletics via the Pathway to Excellence Grant, Strategic Alliance Matching Grant, and Coaching Enhancement Grant.

PASSION

Playing for the love of the game, competition, fun and self-improvement.

Division III institutions are places for playing for the love of the game, competition, growth and self-improvement. The membership actively seeks to portray the benefits of participating in its brand of competitive intercollegiate athletics through activation of the Division III branding and promotion related events such as Division III Week. Competition is further encouraged by Division III's sponsorship of 28 national championships, multiple national collegiate championships and emerging sports for women.

Dedication to developing responsible leaders and global citizens.

Division III empowers over 210,000 student-athletes to grow as leaders and engaged citizens by providing opportunities beyond competition. Through initiatives like the Special Olympics partnership and campus-led service projects, student-athletes take the lead in planning, organizing, and making a lasting impact in their communities, championships and emerging sports for women.

Student-Athlete Experience

DIVISION III
DISCOVER | DEVELOP | DEDICATE

The NCAA mission and Division III philosophy statement articulate principles that represent a commitment to the Division III student-athlete experience. It outlines the principles and expectations institutions and conferences strive for regarding the student-athlete collegiate and athletics experience.

NCAA Mission.

Provide a world-class athletics and academic experience for student-athletes that fosters lifelong well-being.

Student-Athlete Collegiate Experience.

- Primarily focus on intercollegiate athletics as a four-year undergraduate experience. Evaluate an age-based, five-year eligibility model.
- Seek to establish and maintain an environment in which a student-athlete's athletics activities are conducted as an integral part of their educational experience.
- Assure that student-athletes are supported in their efforts to meaningfully participate in nonathletic pursuits to enhance their overall educational experience.

Student-Athlete Athletics Experience.

- Support student-athletes in their efforts to reach the highest levels of athletics performance, with a primary emphasis on conference and regional competition, while providing access to national championships.
- Prioritize the experience of the participants, and the internal constituency (e.g., students, alumni, institutional personnel) rather than on the entertainment needs of spectators or the general public.
- Develop and maintain an environment that promotes sportsmanship and a positive culture for student-athletes, coaches, and administrative personnel, recognizing the role intercollegiate athletics can play in human development. Ensure spectators contribute to a positive sporting experience in support of all participants.

The governance structure, with input from the membership, has identified the following strategic priorities and vision for the division that directly impact student-athletes.

Promote Association-wide initiatives.

- Engage Congress to introduce federal legislation addressing current threats to collegiate athletics.
- Support key initiatives to advance the division (e.g., fan database, purchasing cooperative, post-eligibility insurance, officiating resources).
- Monitor and proactively address legal, state and governmental challenges.

Enhance the championships experience.

- Expand championships opportunities through new sport sponsorships (e.g., women's wrestling, flag football).
- Increase branding through a comprehensive live streaming strategy and new PSA videos.
- Identify opportunities to increase financial support for participating institutions and conferences.
- Maintain NPI - a transparent and objective software system to rank teams for at-large selections.
- Seek local sponsorships for championships to generate revenue.

Effectively advance and provide for equitable opportunities and access.

- Provide professional development opportunities, promote educational programs and maintain grant funding.

Support the student-athlete experience.

- Conduct a comprehensive analysis of the division to mitigate tensions and strengthen the student-athlete experience.
- Provide resources and funding to support athletic training and athletic communication departments.
- Provide mental health training to head coaches and athletic trainers and provide relief through the waiver process based on a student-athlete's mental health.
- Promote the use of the Injury Surveillance Program to provide division specific data to inform playing rule changes.
- Support sportsmanship and game environment initiatives.
- Promote institutional commitment to sexual assault violence prevention education.

Division III, home to more than 210,000 student-athletes, provides an equitable and inclusive environment for student-athletes to participation in a competitive athletics environment, take responsibility for their own paths, follow their passions and discover their potential through a comprehensive educational experience.

HOW TO USE THESE NOTES

Superscript numbers correspond to the numbered notes below. For example, the superscript ¹ following Active Schools on the “Our Three Divisions” page corresponds to End Note 1.

END NOTES

1	ACTIVE SCHOOLS AND MEMBERSHIP PERCENTAGES School counts for each division include active institutions only. Divisional percentages may not total 100% due to rounding.
2	STUDENT-ATHLETE PARTICIPATION Student-athletes who compete in more than one sport are counted once for each sport. Participation figures are based on each institution’s primary NCAA division and may differ from totals published in NCAA Sport Sponsorship and Participation Reports, which classify participation by sport division. Participation counts include active member institutions only. Percentages may not total 100% due to rounding.
3	ATHLETICS SCHOLARSHIPS Athletics-aid percentages are based on unique student-athletes receiving athletics aid and are adjusted to avoid double counting student-athletes who participate in multiple sports.
4	DIVISION I SUBDIVISION BREAKDOWN Institutions transitioning from FCS to FBS are in the reclassification process and will be included in FCS totals until the reclassification process comes to an end.
5	DIVISION II EXPENSE GROUPS Division II schools are grouped by football sponsorship status and athletics expenses. Schools are divided into expense quartiles within both the football-sponsoring and non-football-sponsoring categories.

Technical Collection Notes. Membership figures reflect 2026-27 NCAA membership status reported annually by NCAA member schools through the NCAA Sport Sponsorship and Demographic (SSD) Form. Sport sponsorship and participation figures are based on data reported through the SSD Form for the 2025-26 academic year. Financial figures are based on 2024-25 NCAA Membership Financial Reporting System (FRS) submissions, completed by January 2026.

Financial Aid Committee

Perry Rettig

2025-26 HIGHLIGHTS

- A Level I Review was conducted for 43 institutions. For a review to be conducted one of five conditions must be met based on the analysis of the submitted financial aid data.
- Assessed the policies and procedures for administering the student financial aid program at 16 institutions.
- The committee referred five institutions to NCAA Enforcement for apparent noncompliance with Bylaw 15 (Financial Aid).

Sarah Otey

2025-26 HIGHLIGHTS

- Concluded a comprehensive review of the Bylaw 16 awards and benefits legislation. The review resulted in four noncontroversial and four 2026 Convention proposals to modernize and deregulate various parts of DIII's rules about what can be provided to student-athletes.
- Contributed to the creation of the Transfer Portal educational model that DIII student-athletes are required to view as part of the notification of transfer process.
- Created the goals, structure and timeline for a Name, Image & Likeness (NIL) working group, in fulfillment of a membership sponsored resolution to explore the state of NIL in DIII.
- Began the initial conversations regarding manufacturer and commercial logo use on DIII uniforms.
- Crafted an official interpretation to advise the DIII membership on how to certify transfer student-athletes when those student-athletes come to DIII from divisions or associations that do not recognize seasons (i.e., operate under an age-based model).

2025-26 HIGHLIGHTS

- Recommended the Management Council to approve in concept noncontroversial legislation to:
 - Allow individuals who take over a departing member's term from the same conference to be eligible for representation on a committee.
 - Allow conferences to be immediately eligible for representation on a committee.
 - Allow the NCAA Division III Championships Committee to have final approval on the slate of nominees for Division III sport committees and Divisions II and III Playing Rules Committee.
- The Committee made the following changes to the policies and procedures:
 - Remove the restriction on individuals serving on only one committee at a time.
 - Begin soliciting nominee feedback from conference commissioners.
 - Remove the preference for regional advisory committee experience for sport committees that no longer have RACs.

Student-Athlete Reinstatement Committee

Kaitlin Leach

2025-26 HIGHLIGHTS

- Student-athletes may continue practicing while hardship waiver appeals are pending, supporting continuity in training, team engagement, and mental well-being throughout the administrative review process.
- Recommended increasing committee composition from six to ten. A larger committee ensures better representation across different sports, conferences, and institutional sizes. It also allows for the Faculty Athletic Representative to have a voice.
- Revised rules and guidelines for clarity and more inclusive language in guidelines.
- Evaluated Division I transfers and cross-divisional issues in response to evolving legal precedents, ensuring Division III policies remain legally compliant while preserving its unique philosophy.
- Introduced clinical support options for first-time violations and helps to operate from a harm reduction perspective that aligns better with the NCAA Sports Science Institute.

Division III Analysis Working Group

Marc Camille

2025-26 HIGHLIGHTS

- Worked with an outside consultant to conduct research, survey the membership, and develop options to mitigate tensions identified by the membership.
- After approval by the Presidents Council, forwarded select options to standing governance committees and the membership and retained some options (e.g., finances, playing and practice season, governance structure) for additional research and development.
- Created case studies to develop a framework for membership discussion (e.g., eligibility, NIL).
- Will present its work at the NCAA Convention during the Division III Issues Forum.

2025-26 HIGHLIGHTS

- The subcommittee met on a quarterly basis to fulfill its mission and purpose to be an action-oriented, future looking thought leadership body. In its efforts, the subcommittee reviews and provides insights on current external issues with potential long-range impact on Division III intercollegiate athletics, while simultaneously monitoring future issues.
- Topics identified include:
 - Maintaining the division's financial stability.
 - Congressional engagement.
 - Division III Analysis options and case studies.
 - Enhancing branding and marketing.
 - Monitoring legal actions and identifying opportunities to use the division's collective scale to find budget savings.
- Recommendation to Presidents Council to create a new initiative to engage and educate campus leaders.

Strategic Initiatives Conference Grant Program

In 2025-26, NCAA Division III invested over $4.3 million through its Strategic Initiatives Conference Grant Program, reinforcing its commitment to advancing the division's strategic priorities through localized, member-driven programming. This annual allocation supported all Division III voting conferences and the Division III Independent members, with individual grants ranging from $84,000 to $150,000, based on the number of member institutions.

PURPOSE AND STRATEGIC ALIGNMENT

The conference grant program empowers conferences to implement educational programs and services that reflect local needs while aligning with the Division III strategic plan. It promotes broad-based collaboration among institutional leaders, athletics administrators, faculty representatives, and student-athletes, and emphasizes presidential oversight and accountability in governance and budget decisions.

KEY AREAS OF INVESTMENT

Grant-funded initiatives are organized into four strategic tiers:

- Tier One: Professional Development, Education, and Communication
- Tier Two: Social Responsibility and Integration
- Tier Three: Quality of the Participation Experience
- Tier Four: Access, Opportunities, and Connections

These tiers reflect the division's commitment to enhancing the student-athlete experience and supporting leadership development across all levels of campus and conference governance.

FINANCIAL IMPACT AND OVERSIGHT

The program's financial structure allows for customized implementation at the conference level, giving members the flexibility to design initiatives that best serve their institutions. The Division III Strategic Planning and Finance Committee conducts an annual review of the program to ensure fiscal responsibility, strategic alignment, and measurable impact.

In 2025-26, the program supported:

- Over $4.3 million in total grant funding.
- 42 conferences + Independent members.
- Hundreds of initiatives across the four strategic tiers.
- Increased engagement from presidents, athletics directors, and student-athletes in local decision-making.

OUTCOMES AND VALUE

The Strategic Initiatives Conference Grant Program continues to serve as a vital mechanism for translating national priorities into local action. By investing in leadership development and the quality of the student-athlete experience, Division III strengthens its identity and ensures that member institutions have the resources and autonomy to innovate and lead.

ADR Professional Development Program

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Athletic Direct Report (ADR) professional development program is designed to equip Division III ADRs with best practices for overseeing athletics programs while strengthening their relationships with presidents, athletics directors, and conference commissioners. The program emphasizes enhancing the ADR's effectiveness and engagement at the campus, conference, and national levels. Participants will benefit from both networking opportunities and interactive discussions with peers and expert presenters, through a mix of in-person sessions at the NCAA Convention and virtual sessions throughout the academic year.

CSC Student Program

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

In 2017, the Division III governance staff created the CSC Student Program in partnership with the College Sports Communicators - formerly CoSIDA. The CSC Student Program is held annually in conjunction with the CSC Convention, typically held each June. Selected students are fully funded to experience Division III specific programming and the CSC Convention. Participants will explore potential careers in sports information and athletics communication. The program is designed to assist students in charting their career paths, as well as provide an opportunity to network and learn from current athletics communication professionals. The goal is to build a pipeline of talented female and ethnic minority candidates, with an interest in Division III athletics communication, in an effort to ultimately diversify the division.

Emerging Elite Program

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Launched in 2024, the Athletic Communicators Emerging Elite Program is a professional development initiative held annually in December at the NCAA National Office in Indianapolis. Created with D3SIDA and College Sports Communicators, the program develops the next generation of Division III athletic communication leaders. Participants engage in interactive sessions on leadership, team management, cross-department collaboration, and navigating college athletics communications, plus in-person networking and a complimentary registration to the College Sports Communicators Convention the following June.

Institute for Administrative Advancement

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Division III Institute for Administrative Advancement is a collaborative initiative between the NCAA and the Minority Opportunities Athletic Association (MOAA), designed to provide professional development and networking opportunities for administrators from underrepresented populations in Division III athletics. The Institute aims to give participants a distinctive experience to better understand themselves as administrators, develop new skills and tools to excel in their current roles, and prepare for potential advancement into senior administrative positions within Division III. Equally important, the program fosters mentorship, encouraging participants to support the next generation of Division III administrators.

New Athletics Director Orientation

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The NCAA Division III governance staff established the New Athletics Director Orientation to assist individuals who are new to Division III, their institutions, or the athletics director role. The program is structured to provide ongoing NCAA resources throughout the year, beginning with a day-and-a-half professional development workshop. Workshop sessions address core areas of responsibility, including effective communication, the Division III championships experience, budget development and management, and fundraising strategies. Participants also take part in the NADIIIA Summer Forum and are provided with a one-year NADIIIA membership. Each September, new athletics directors are identified, and the in-person orientation is made available to all.

New FAR Orientation

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The purpose of the New FAR Orientation is to enhance the effectiveness and engagement of newly appointed Division III FARs. Programming focuses on understanding the Division III model of athletics, exploring the role of a Division III FAR, and enabling participants to get the most out of the FARA Annual meeting. Also, participants will have the opportunity to build networks of new and experienced FARs, and to establish goals for engagement in the role.

Participants will have the opportunity to build networks of new and experienced FARs and to establish goals for engagement in the role. Funding for the institute is provided by the Division III budget and covers all attendee expenses. In addition to attending the FARA Annual meeting, orientation participants will engage in pre-work, facilitated networking and debrief sessions, and a closing workshop.

Student Immersion Program

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Division III Student Immersion Program is held annually in conjunction with the NCAA Convention. Ethnic minority students, preferably juniors and seniors, with a strong interest in a career in Division III athletics (coaching and/or administration) are encouraged to apply. The selected students are fully funded to attend the Convention, and they are exposed to Division III, its members and the governance process. The goal is to build a pipeline of ethnic minority candidates, with an interest in Division III coaching and/or administration, in an effort to ultimately diversify the division.

Senior Woman Administrator Program

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The program aims to provide professional development and networking opportunities for Senior Woman Administrators (SWAs), particularly those aspiring to become athletics directors or conference commissioners. Sessions may cover resume and cover letter preparation, networking, budgeting, positioning for leadership roles, the president's perspective, collaborating with athletics directors, and the evolving role of the SWA. Each year, Division III provides funding for 30 SWAs to participate in this division-specific program. The program is held in conjunction with either the Women Leaders in Sports National Convention or NCAA National Office programming. Each participant also receives a one-year membership to Women Leaders in Sports.

Coaching Enhancement Grant

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Coaching Enhancement Grant funds new, full-time assistant coaching positions for all NCAA-sponsored sports during a two-year commitment. The grant is designed to provide financial assistance to the division's member institutions that are committed to enhancing ethnic minority and gender representation in newly created assistant coaching positions for any NCAA sponsored sport. The initiative is funded by the Division III budget with an annual budget of $100,000, which allows for a total of 11 institutions to receive the funding annually.

Strategic Alliance Matching Grant

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Division III Strategic Alliance Matching Grant is a five-year grant program that provides funding for the creation of new, or the enhancement of, full-time, mid- to senior-level administrative positions at NCAA Division III schools and conference offices to encourage access, recruitment, selection and the long-term success of ethnic minorities and women. Selected recipients receive three years of grant funds from the NCAA, and the recipient is required to supplement the funding in the first three years as well as commit to funding the position in full for the final two years of the grant. During the first three years of the grant, the NCAA funds 75 percent of the proposed salary and benefits for the first year of funding, 50 percent of the proposed salary and benefits for the second year of funding, and 25 percent of the proposed salary and benefits for the third year of funding.

Awards & Recognitions

Impact Award Finalists

NCAA IMPACT AWARD

The newly re imagined NCAA Impact Award – formerly known as Today's Top 10 – celebrates the very best of college athletics by honoring one exceptional male and one exceptional female senior student-athlete from each division. These distinguished honorees, selected from the prior academic year, exemplify the highest standards of athletic excellence, academic achievement, and service to their campuses and communities. Chosen by the NCAA Awards Committee – composed of leaders from NCAA member schools and conferences, as well as nationally renowned figures including past award recipients – the NCAA Impact Award represents the pinnacle of student-athlete recognition.

MATTHEW WRATHER JOHN CARROLL UNIVERSITY

Matthew Wrather finished his career as one of the most decorated student-athletes in Division III football. A two-time first-team Academic All-American and American Football Coaches Association All-American, Wrather was named to the Allstate AFCA Good Works Team for his excellence in athletics, academics and service. A team captain and semifinalist for the William V. Campbell Trophy, he also co-founded the John Carroll Student Alumni Association, mentoring youth through the Son of a Saint and Carroll Ballers programs and helping to organize campuswide service events like the Jesuit Day of Service.

ELLA BRISSETT CLAREMONT-MUDD-SCRIPPS

A two-time NCAA Division III women's tennis champion and two-time Intercollegiate Tennis Association All-American in doubles, Ella Brissett also earned first-team All-Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference honors, the Division III ITA Arthur Ashe Leadership and Sportsmanship Award and NCAA Woman of the Year Top 30 honors. Academically, she was named a 2025 College Sports Communicators first-team Academic All-American and conducted award-winning thesis research on health disparities and women's health. Brissett also founded the Women's Empowerment in Sports Club, led Title IX workshops, mentored underrepresented students in STEM and volunteered in clinical and community health settings.

LGBTQ of the Year Awards

2025 DIVISION III LGBTQ ADMINISTRATOR/ COACH/STAFF OF THE YEAR AWARD MITCHELL MCPARTLAND, HEAD VOLLEYBALL COACH, UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Mitchell McPartland has used his platform to share his journey as a queer person in sports and empower others on campus to be their authentic selves. He has led social media campaigns for Pride Month, and he helped organize a Pride Game during softball and women's lacrosse games. He came up with a statement to read before each game, emphasizing UChicago's goal of creating inclusive spaces for members of the LGBTQ+ community both on and off the field.

On a personal side, with the help of other athletics staff, McPartland recorded a "letter to my former self" that talked about his journey as a queer person and posted it on the UChicago athletics social media channels. McPartland employs small, but impactful changes, as well. At the end of his coaching biography on the school website, he includes that he has a husband. "That way, if any future recruits might be reading my biography, mentioning my sexuality was an opportunity for me to be authentic and open to being a member of the LGBTQ+ community," McPartland said. "It is my goal to continue to create policies and create opportunities for the UChicago athletics to be a safe place for any and all members of the LGBTQ+ community."

2025 DIVISION III INSTITUTION OF THE YEAR AWARD UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS BOSTON

The Massachusetts Boston athletics department has invested in sustained efforts around LGBTQ+ inclusion. In 2023, the department created a position of director of community engagement and inclusive excellence, filled in 2023 by Tiffany Alford. Alford created an active Athlete Ally chapter and school Pride Games and has dedicated resources to sending student-athletes to the Athlete Ally Activism Summit and administrators to the NCAA's Common Ground program. The athletics department also has an internal Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee that consists of students, coaches, athletes and administrators to discuss issues and promote sustainable solutions. In recent years, the department has participated in implicit bias hiring training, with the goal of creating a more diverse and equitable department. The athletics department is also proud to have many LGBTQ employees, coaches, administrators and student-athletes and their many allies, who represent their community and offer support, both informal and formal, creating a culture of acceptance and inclusion. "Our department has worked hard to create partnerships between our teams and other parts of the university to promote our shared goals of LGBTQ inclusion. The University of Massachusetts Boston athletics department is proud to create and support numerous programs and activities related to increasing cultural and practical competencies around LGBTQ inclusion within our department and the broader university," said Peter Federman, faculty athletics representative.

Inspiration Award

FRANCESCA LOISEAU MARYMOUNT UNIVERSITY

Marymount (Virginia) tennis player Francesca Loiseau was named the 2026 NCAA Inspiration Award recipient after overcoming a life-threatening brain bleed caused by a ruptured AVM during her freshman year. After emergency brain surgery and months of rehabilitation, Loiseau relearned how to walk and regained her cognitive and speech functions. More than two years after her collapse, she returned to collegiate tennis in March 2025. Reflecting on her recovery, Loiseau said, “The competitiveness in me that I’ve always had made me want to be better and kept pushing me through it all.” Her return to the court was emotional. “It was surreal,” she said. “It was also terrifying.” Today, Loiseau continues her tennis career, works toward her accounting degree and speaks to traumatic brain injury survivors. “Look at where I was with my injury – paralyzed in a wheelchair – and look how far I’ve come,” she said. Now completing her accounting degree and tennis career, Loiseau also shares her story with traumatic brain injury survivors, inspiring others through her resilience, determination and comeback.

Silver Anniversary Award

NICK ACKERMAN SIMPSON UNIVERSITY

In 2001, Simpson wrestler Nick Ackerman was named a co-winner for the Hodge Trophy, the sport’s highest individual honor, after notching a 20-match winning streak and winning the 174-pound NCAA Division III national championship. Twenty-five years later, he remains the only Division III wrestler to have won the Hodge Trophy. Ackerman accomplished it all without legs, which were amputated when he was 18 months old due to bacterial meningitis. As he reflects on his accolades, however, what he was able to accomplish without legs never crosses his mind. Instead, his achievements are a reminder of what can happen when you simply have a strong belief in yourself. He hopes his story is a reminder of the heights that are possible for a student-athlete at any level. “If there’s anything that my journey can show anybody, it’s that you can achieve those highest accolades coming from the Division III level,” Ackerman said. “By getting these accolades, the Hodge Trophy and all these different things from the NCAA, I’m hopeful that it allows kids to believe that it’s not one path, and if they’re not on a full-ride scholarship, it’s (still) worth competing at the next level, because there’s so much more you get out of it at any level that you’re competing in.”

NCAA Woman of the Year

The Woman of the Year award was created in 1991 to recognize graduating female student-athletes who have distinguished themselves in athletics, academics, leadership and community service.

Postgraduate Scholarships

The NCAA awards up to 126 postgraduate scholarships annually. The scholarships are awarded to student-athletes who excel academically and athletically and who are at least in their final year of intercollegiate athletics competition. All former student-athletes who earned an undergraduate degree from an NCAA member school are eligible to be nominated by that school for an NCAA graduate degree scholarship, regardless of when they received their undergraduate degree.

Division III equipping institutions with Mental Health First Aid training

To better support the mental well-being of student-athletes, Division III is collaborating with the National Council for Mental Wellbeing to offer fully funded Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) for Higher Education training to institutions across the division, with a focus on head coaches and athletic trainers. Division III schools are eligible to receive one fully funded training during the program, which launched in March 2025 and will be in effect until Aug. 1, 2027. In the first year, almost half of the division (e.g., 200 institutions) participated in an on-campus training.

“In our efforts to assist Division III institutions with supporting their student-athletes’ mental health, we are excited to engage the National Council for Mental Wellbeing to provide this critical training,” said Louise McCleary, Vice President of Division III. “Our goal is to equip those who interact with student-athletes daily with the tools to recognize and respond to mental health challenges, build resilience, and reduce the stigma.”

The 2022 NCAA Coach Well-Being Study underscored the need for expanded mental health support in college athletics. More than 80% of coaches reported spending increased time addressing mental health concerns with their student-athletes compared with pre-pandemic levels, and many identified mental health as the top issue facing their teams. These findings reinforced the importance of MHFA training as a timely and valuable resource for Division III coaches and athletic trainers.

MHFA for Higher Education is an evidence-based, interactive program that teaches individuals how to:

- Recognize signs and symptoms of common mental health and substance use challenges among student-athletes.
- Use the five-step MHFA Action Plan (ALGEE).
- Interact with someone in crisis.
- Connect student-athletes with the help they need.
- Practice self-care to support themselves and others.

The training aligns with recommendations from the NCAA Mental Health Advisory Group and supports on-campus implementation of the NCAA Mental Health Best Practices. It also is equipping Division III athletics departments with the tools to support today’s student-athletes as highlighted by the following testimonial.

“We are truly grateful for the opportunity NCAA Division III provided to its member institutions to offer Mental Health First Aid training on our campus. The training added another valuable tool to our toolkit as we work daily with student-athletes, guiding them and helping develop them into strong leaders. The knowledge gained through this experience has helped our coaches feel more confident and comfortable when supporting student-athletes who may be struggling with mental health concerns.” Deanna Hand, Senior Associate Director of Athletics for Internal Operations, Houghton University.

Through this program, up to 30 individuals at each active Division III school are eligible to participate in a 7.5 hour, in-person training with expert MHFA instructors on their campus. Upon completion, participants will be certified in MHFA for Higher Education for three years.

Division III Inclusive Leaders Program

The Division III Inclusive Leaders Program, developed by the Division III Diversity and Inclusion Working Group in partnership with Return On Inclusion, provides athletics departments with the tools to strengthen diversity, equity, and inclusion within their programs. Designed as a two-hour workshop led by a trained facilitator, the program focuses on helping coaches, administrators, and staff create more inclusive environments. Participants learn strategies to enhance recruitment and retention of students of color, gain a deeper understanding of diversity and equity in athletics, and build racial equity knowledge while hearing directly from the experiences of student-athletes of color.

Institutions and conferences interested in hosting a session can coordinate directly with a trained facilitator to schedule the program. Workshops are intended for groups of up to 50 participants, with a preferred size of 35, and are best held in classrooms with roundtable setups to foster discussion. While there is no facilitation fee, institutions may be asked to cover travel costs for facilitators traveling more than 25 miles. This program is a valuable opportunity for athletics departments to intentionally invest in education, dialogue, and actionable steps toward building more inclusive and equitable campus communities.

LGBTQ OneTeam Program

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Division III LGBTQ Working Group, in consultation with Nevin Caple, co-founder and managing director of LGBT SportSafe and Dr. Pat Griffin, professor emerita at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, have developed the Division III LGBTQ OneTeam Program. For information about hosting a OneTeam program on your campus, please read the information below. Contact Malik Henry (mhenry@ncaa.org) for additional information about the program.

The Division III LGBTQ OneTeam Program has four objectives for participants:

1. To understand the involvement of the NCAA and Division III in LGBTQ issues;
2. To recognize the importance of LGBTQ inclusion in college athletics; learn common LGBTQ terms, definitions and concepts;
3. To identify strategies and best practices for institutions and conferences to ensure all individuals may participate in an athletics climate of respect and inclusion, regardless of sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression; and
4. To develop facilitation and presentation skills. The program is designed to provide peer-driven LGBTQ educational programming directly to Division III institutions and conferences.

REQUEST AN LGBTQ ONETEAM PROGRAM

To request an LGBTQ OneTeam program follow the following steps:

1. Locate a trained facilitator in your area. (see below for a list of trained facilitators.)
2. Contact the facilitator directly.
3. The facilitator will work with you on securing a mutually agreed upon date and time.
4. The facilitator will need to know the total number of training participants at least 21 days in advance of the training in order to secure the proper training materials for the session.
5. Each in-person training session lasts two hours.

PARAMETERS TO HOST AN LGBTQ ONETEAM PROGRAM

1. Participants in attendance should be no more than 50, with a preferred size of 35.
2. Programs are designed for athletics administrators, staff and coaches. However, you may request a separate program for your student-athletes.
3. The set-up should be a room or classroom (not an auditorium), preferably with round tables. Five chairs to every table.
4. Audiovisual capabilities (e.g. projector screen and laptop) necessary as there is a program PowerPoint.

COST TO HOST AN LGBTQ ONETEAM PROGRAM

There is no facilitation fee for the training. Division III has trained the facilitators and they are donating their time and expertise as a service to the Division III membership. If your facilitator is coming from a distance greater than 25 miles, we request you provide travel expenses. You may ask your commissioner to offset the expenses from the Division III Conference Grant program. Contact your conference office to determine if they have funds available for your use.

Student-Athlete Opportunities

STUDENT-ATHLETE LEADERSHIP FORUM

The NCAA Student-Athlete Leadership Forum, created in 1997, has served as a life-changing experience for more than 5,000 student-athletes who have grown personally and professionally as a result of their attendance. Student-athletes selected to attend the forum return to campus with invaluable leadership skills, a refined understanding of the relationship among personal values, core beliefs and behavioral styles, and the support of a close personal network of like-minded peers to provide continued connection and dialogue after the program concludes. This best-in-class programming experience serves as a transformational opportunity for student-athletes and administrators to build a leadership toolkit and develop vital self-awareness that allows them to realize their potential.

CAREER IN SPORTS FORUM

The Career in Sports Forum is an annual educational program that brings together 200 selected NCAA student-athletes to learn about and explore potential careers in sports, particularly college athletics. This unique three-day forum helps student-athletes chart their career paths. Participants network with and learn from current athletics professionals.

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

As part of its commitment to providing a pathway to opportunity, the NCAA awards scholarships and grants for further education to college athletes who demonstrate outstanding academic and athletic achievement. Colleges and universities are also awarded grants to improve academics and enhance campus culture – all to support student-athletes. In addition to the nearly $3.5 billion schools award in athletics scholarships each year, the NCAA funds more than $10 million in scholarships and grants annually to graduate student-athletes and member schools. April 6, 2027 is National Student-Athlete Day. This is the 40th time the holiday is being celebrated.

Additional NCAA Programs

DISC PROGRAMMING

The NCAA provides access to the DISC behavioral assessment for member schools and conference offices to equip NCAA student-athletes, coaches and administrators with self-awareness tools. This resource provides an opportunity for participants to learn more about their behavioral styles and how their individual styles come together in a team environment.

GAMEDAY THE DIII WAY

Gameday the DIII Way is an innovative and unique approach designed to achieve better fan decorum at athletics events around the country. The program was created by the Division III Sportsmanship and Game Environment Working Group, in conjunction with the Disney Institute, with the goal of improving the behavior of parents and fans and ensuring that all Division III student-athletes have a rewarding experience. Through the program, Division III institutions will be assisted in providing exceptional levels of guest service and event expectations that are consistent throughout the membership.

To locate the latest championship guidelines for each Division III sport, choose the 'championships' link within the Division III website, choose the sport you wish to obtain the manual for and find the 'Host Operations Manual' on each of those pages.

Division III Week

WHAT IS DIVISION III WEEK?

Division III Week is a positive opportunity for all individuals associated with Division III to observe and celebrate the impact of athletics and of student-athletes on the campus and surrounding community. During the week, every Division III school and conference office is encouraged to conduct a type of outreach activity that falls into one of three categories: academic accomplishment; athletic experience; or leadership/community service/campus involvement.

ABOUT THE PARTNERSHIP

Since 2011, the Division III Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) has partnered with Special Olympics to create meaningful, life-changing experiences for both Division III student-athletes and Special Olympics athletes. The partnership not only celebrates achievements and builds community, but also raises awareness of the incredible programs and services Special Olympics provides. The 15th anniversary design was created with input from Division III SAAC, Special Olympics athletes, and Bobby Jones, a Special Olympics Virginia athlete and communications coordinator for Special Olympics North America.

Across the country, Division III student-athletes are making an impact in countless ways. They participate in existing Special Olympics events, organize their own, and support local communities through service and fundraising. Activities are tailored to each state and region, maximizing the student-athletes' time and resources. From unified sports events and sports clinics to bowling nights, pizza parties, and fundraising efforts, these student-athletes are building connections, inspiring others, and creating lasting memories that extend far beyond the playing field.
