

Utilizing and supporting ADIDs who work outside athletics

- Host monthly meetings with the ADID and executive team of the athletics department discussing matters related to diversity, equity and inclusion.
- Utilize the ADID as a liaison to other departments on campus to support the creation of joint events and campus-wide programming related to diversity, equity and inclusion.
- Invite the ADID to Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and other student-athlete group meetings to hear and discuss student-athlete needs related to diversity, equity and inclusion.
- Consult the ADID in diversity-, equity- and inclusion-related issues with student-athletes, coaches, administrators and staff.
- Integrate athletics diversity, equity and inclusion programming led by the ADID with general student body programming.
- Utilize the ADID to review athletics department policies and procedures from a diversity, equity and inclusion perspective.
- Partner with the ADID on the athletics department's participation in the annual NCAA Diversity and Inclusion Social Media Campaign.
- Communicate who the ADID is and the importance of the designation with the athletics department, student-athletes and the faculty athletics representative.
- Support the ADID in engaging in diversity, equity and inclusion programming and professional development opportunities (i.e., the NCAA Inclusion Forum).
- Encourage the ADID to collaborate and partner with the senior woman administrator and faculty athletics representative on diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives.

For more information, visit our website:
<https://www.ncaa.org/athletics-diversity-and-inclusion-designees>

